LARGE FLOWERED GLADIOLI

Gladioli make attractive displays in the garden, planted in beds or in groups along the border. They are ideal for house decoration. In compiling the following list of varieties, great care has been taken to select the best variety in each color. Gladioli are easily grown in any good, well-drained soil in sunny location. They may be planted at intervals for a succession of bloom from early spring until as late as the first week in July.

GIGANTIC FLOWERED BEGONIAS

Begonias are perhaps the handsomest of all Summer-flowering plants. They are at present the chosen plants for the decoration of window boxes, house plants and for the laying out of beds or groups in moist shaded areas. Gigantic flowers appear uninterrupted from July until frost and their bright colors contrast well with the deep-colored foliage. Plant the bulbs outdoors, from early May on. You can get them to flower earlier in summer if you plant them indoors in March or April and transplant into the open when warm weather arrives. Bulbs may be lifted in Autumn, stored in a cool place over winter, for planting the following year.

Single Begonias

Produce gigantic flat flowers with a bunch of stamens in the center.
